1. Physical products:

Patterns are allowed to be printed directly onto physical products without alteration.
(The pattern can be used to print on fabric, and then sewn pants for children. Or use a pattern to print on the invitation, and then sold in your store)

Digital products:

Patterns used to create digital End Products must be used with other design elements to create a distinctive new design that does not completely resemble the Pattern used.
(For example, use a pattern for sale on "Print on Demand" site)

2. Patterns can be used as a background, as an overlay, to fill specific areas.

3. The original Pattern file used to create the End Product cannot be extracted or separated by the customer when the End Product is being sold to the customer via electronic means. The customer is only permitted to use the said End Product, but not the original Pattern file.

4. Patterns cannot be converted into other formats (SVG, EPS etc.) and subsequently sold or distributed.

5. You are not allowed to share, resell or distribute Pattern on a standalone basis or include Pattern in the sale of template products (e.g. a website theme or logo template).

6. Patterns shall not be installed, embedded or integrated in any software, program, application etc. E.g. installing our patterns into an application that allows You to select our Pattern to make Your own T-Shirt design is strictly prohibited.
